

Since 1929 Scalamandré has been considered a destination for connoisseurs of fine design and all things beautiful. Today The House of Scalamandré is proud to extend our legacy as both a ninety-year-old heritage brand, and an innovative new company, encompassing the very best in fabric, wallcovering, passementerie, furniture, lighting, and beyond.

The core brands of The House of Scalamandré include, Scalamandré, Old World Weavers, Grey Watkins, Boris Kroll, and Hinson. Thirteen diverse fabric and wallcovering brands, two fine furniture lines, and one luxury lighting company add to our already extensive offering. Exceptional contract & hospitality, custom, and restoration services make us more than a destination for residential projects.

We maintain our strong commitment to the art and craftsmanship of the luxury products we present to the design community. Driven by a clear sense of integrity and the rich heritage of our brands, The House of Scalamandré celebrates our iconic designs with a focus on the current and future trends of the industry.

www.scalamandre.com

Scalamandré is a heritage American textile brand rooted in luxury and high-end design since its inception in 1929. Founder Franco Scalamandre built his eponymous brand on the core values of craftsmanship, quality, and beauty that we continue to uphold. With a keen eye for detail, our vast offering of decorative fabric, wallcovering, passementerie and furnishings offers a balance of trend and tradition relevant to today's interiors.

OLD WORLD WEAVERS

Drawing from global adventures and time spent exploring abroad, Iris Apfel brought her overseas inspiration to life and founded Old World Weavers in 1950. Today, Old World Weavers is considered one of the most respected luxury textile brands in the industry, and is known for its blend of sophisticated historical design, and an exotic, world travelled aesthetic. Remaining true to its foundation of beautiful design and standard in quality, Old World Weavers' collections remain rich with history and adventure, while incorporating a unique and independent aesthetic, relevant to both the brand and contemporary trends.

GREY WATKINS

Grey Watkins began her eponymous brand in 1980. Using her considerable industry experience Grey sought a traditional high-end approach to design, combined with a contemporary freshness in interpretation and palette. Today, we carry her transitional style to the next generation, incorporating a clean color palette and painterly sensibility. No matter the changing trends, nature is at the core of this special brand, and we continue to reference botanical and floral elements and colors. The Grey Watkins client is youthful in spirit and craves a more relaxed elegance.

BORIS KROLL

For six decades, Boris Kroll was celebrated for distinctive collections of high-quality woven fabrics for the design industry. A self-taught weaver, Kroll was best known for combining advanced weaving technology with a bold color sensibility to create innovative contract and high performance jacquard-woven geometric patterns in intense hues. Today, the Boris Kroll brand continues its tradition of high performance and innovation in a range of woven textiles suitable for commercial and residential applications.

HINSON

Hinson, founded in 1972 by designer, Harry Hinson, is a trusted resource for hand-screened wallcoverings as well as printed and woven fabrics. With a dedicated focus on offering timeless classics, Hinson produces designs inspired by historical patterns and documents, translated into livable designs for today's home. In 1991 Hinson expanded into lighting, and incorporated Hansen Lamps, the first to introduce the original swing arm lamp over 60 years ago. Today, Hinson provides classically functional, impeccably formed design for the home, and will continue to do so for many years to come.
